RE: ADM 2010-22 and MRPC 7.3

Dear Mr. Davis:

I wish to indicate to the Supreme Court that the practice of divorce case "trolling" is dangerous, unethical, and just plain wrong. In my opinion, ADM 2010-22 does not go far enough but, at a minimum, should be enacted. There are many practical and appropriate reasons why a divorce case may not be served within fourteen (14) days. Divorce case "trolling" should be totally prohibited.

The practice of law should be an honorable endeavor. A total prohibition against divorce case "trolling" would help stop the unprincipled attorneys who engage in divorce case "trolling" and obviously do not care about the consequences of their blatant self-promotion.

The Court should not wait until there is a suicide or an extraordinary case of an entire marital estate being made to disappear to address the issue of divorce case "trolling".

Please see that my thoughts are circulated to the members of the Supreme Court.

Very truly yours,

Timothy T. Fryhoff
